

SLH SOMALI AND SH SOMALI KITTENS

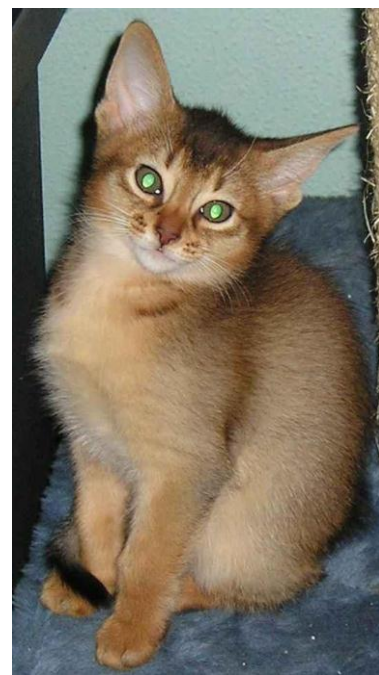

These photographs illustrate how easy it is for an experienced breeder to pick out SLH Somali kittens from SLH Somalis at an early age.

Here is a SH Somali mother – the three kittens in front are SH and the one at the back is SLH – although the tail is bent under it is more of a brush rather than the smooth tails of the SH's. See how short and smooth the SH's coats are. The babies are 4 weeks here.

Here is a six week SLH Somali. The ruff is coming and the tail bushy – he is clearly NOT shorthaired!

A SH litter mate at 8 weeks. Medium length fur and no sign of a ruff. No plume tail.
